

DUST DISEASES TRIBUNAL OF NSW

ADVICE TO PRACTITIONERS (No.1 of 2023)

INTRODUCING THE DIGITAL EXPANSION OF THE DUST DISEASES TRIBUNAL OF NSW

The Dust Diseases Tribunal (DDT) of NSW is pleased to announce that we have introduced a suite of online products that will modernise the Tribunal and enable digital capabilities for our legal representatives, clients, and registry.

The new digital services will allow parties to file, access and manage documents including subpoenaed materials online, from anywhere at any time.

Legal representatives and clients will benefit from this innovation that will improve efficiency and provide quicker access to justice.

Start filing online with the DDT

In order to file online, all legal representatives must have a registered account with the NSW Courts & Tribunals Online Registry.

Once you have registered, you can use your Online Registry account to login, start a case or file on an existing case. Alternatively, you can refer to the Dust Diseases Tribunal website for How to file online.

The NSW Subpoena Response website provides the ability for parties to produce, manage and access subpoenaed documents electronically. To access to the service, parties must first register their details with the NSW Subpoena Response Website.
