Overview of the NSW ESP

The NSW Department of Communities and Justice's Engagement and Support Program (ESP) is an intervention program within NSW's countering violent extremism strategy.

The ESP is a voluntary program that aims to assist individuals make positive behavioural changes to limit their risk of participating in violent extremism. The program includes an assessment process which informs eligibility and the development of a support plan tailored to the individual's needs.

The Program is supported by a Multi-Agency Panel that provides expertise from various disciplines. This includes specialists from across the Department of Communities and Justice in the areas of Child Protection, Corrective Services, and Youth Justice as well as NSW Police, the Department of Education, and NSW Health.

The Program employs a holistic case management approach to working with individuals to address identified needs and risks and strengthen protective factors. Case Managers take a strengths-based and trauma-informed approach to their work, helping to divert and/or disengage people who are vulnerable to, or engaging in, violent extremism.

For more information about the Program, please visit <https://dcj.nsw.gov.au/resources/engagement-and-support-program.html>
