Aboriginal Housing Office overview

The Aboriginal Housing Office (AHO) is a statutory body established under the Aboriginal Housing Act 1998 (NSW) to ensure Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people have access to affordable, quality housing.

The AHO is governed by an all-Aboriginal Board, which provides advice to the Minister for Water and Minister for Housing in NSW. In addition, the AHO manages and coordinates an annual capital works program, along with developing and implementing financial and resourcing strategies.

Underpinning all planning is a strong commitment to the principles of self-determination and self-management, articulated through inclusive, fully consultative planning. At the same time, the AHO actively promotes employment opportunities for Aboriginal people, both within the AHO and through opportunities for tradespeople and trainees with contracted Aboriginal and non-Aboriginal building companies.

Underpinned by an all-Aboriginal Board providing advice to the Minister, the AHO provides housing assistance for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people and an increased range of housing choices, especially for those members of the community most in need. The AHO plans, administers, and expands the policies, program and asset base for Aboriginal housing in NSW.

Primary purpose of the role

Coordinate, undertake and initiate research and policy development and provide evidence-based policy analysis and specialist advice to develop high quality social policy, which drives reform and directly contributes to better outcomes for Aboriginal people including individuals, families, groups and communities.

Key accountabilities

- Initiate and develop strategic policies that guide program and service development to address the needs of the AHO client groups and manage and undertake policy projects to evaluate and improve the effectiveness of service delivery and inform policy development.
- Engage and consult with key stakeholders to identify emerging issues and develop solutions that support sound policy decisions and approaches.
- Provide leadership, guidance, support and a point of contact for business unit staff on DCJ policies that impact business unit operations.
- Deliver on multifaceted policy projects and processes within agreed upon deadlines and quality standards.
- Support and contribute to work planning and resource alignment.
- Liaise and work across AHO and DCJ Divisions and non-government stakeholders to ensure effective interface between policy development, program development, planning, service design and policy implementation.
- Work effectively with team members towards mutual continued development and to provide feedback to each other on policy research and analysis undertaken.

Key challenges

- Developing new, well rounded and evidence-based policy responses taking into account research and analysis from external and internal sources, the diverse interests of stakeholders and considerations of a whole-of-government approach.
- Balancing complex and multiple issues with sensitivity to resource requirements, business impacts and relationships with stakeholders, throughout the policy development process.
- Providing well-researched, balanced and expert advice within tight timeframes.

Role dimensions

Decision making

This role:

- Carries a high level of autonomy in setting own priorities, and those of any staff/project staff supervised, in alignment with management.
- Maintains a degree of independence to develop a suitable approach in managing the workload, as well as that of supervised staff, and provision of advice and recommendations as well as input to the development of relevant systems, frameworks, team planning and projects.
- Determines own actions undertaken, within government and legislative policies, and for ensuring quality control in the implementation of own, and any staff supervised, workload.
- Ensures recommendations are based on sound evidence, but at times may be required to use their judgment under pressure or in the absence of complete information or as a source of expert advice to internal stakeholders across the AHO as well as externally.
- As necessary, consults with management on a suitable course of action in matters that are sensitive, high-risk or business-critical, or for those issues that have far reaching implications with respect to resources or quality advice provision.
